Leading from the Middle

...Reaching to the Top

“Leading from the Middle” is a multi-module group learning course designed for middle managers who want to exert their leadership in order to effect positive change.

The group learning will involve a series of workshops focused on issues that mean the most to middle managers. “Leading from the Middle” will include topics that participants want to explore, specifically the management and leadership challenges leaders face in the workplace.

The course explores how to demonstrate presence, influence across boundaries, lead for common cause, and achieve sustainable results. The course is based upon John’s work as a leadership educator and executive coach as well as many of his books.

"Leading from the Middle" is essential to managers who want to achieve sustainable results that complement the mission of their organization.

Module topics:

In “Leading from the Middle,” John Baldoni will teach how to:

- Lead with Presence
- Think & Act Strategically
- Execute with Clarity and Alacrity
- Influence from the Middle
- Coach Your Employees
- Get Promoted
- Present as a Senior Leader

Coaching Program

“Leading from the Middle” includes an optional coaching component. The coaching process, complete with leadership assessments, is a guided form of self discovery where the coach helps the participant discover things about his or her leadership self that will enable the individual to lead more effectively.

About John Baldoni

John Baldoni is an internationally recognized leadership consultant, coach, author and speaker.

John has taught what it means to inspire at the top of a mountain in the Canadian Rockies. At sea level in Orlando, Florida, John spoke to nearly one thousand USAF/JAG commissioned and non-commissioned officers on leadership and communication. And his new book, Lead Your Boss, was hailed by Harvard Business Review as a “guide that provides useful advice... [and] is encouraging and inspirational.”

Also in 2009, John was named one of the world's top 25 leadership experts by Top Leadership Gurus International. In 2011, Leadership Gurus named John number 11 on its list of top thirty global leadership gurus.

John began his business career in a fifteenth floor office with a view of a private golf course. Around the corner was a commanding view of the Pacific Ocean. In between was a recording studio where John produced and edited corporate radio spots. But John gave that all up to start his own business in the spare bedroom of a beachfront rental more than three decades ago.

In time, John established a career as a highly sought after communications and leadership consultant, where he had the privilege of working with senior leaders in virtually every industry from pharmaceutical to real estate, packaged goods to automobiles, and finance to health care.

In Fall 2011 John published his tenth book, Lead With Purpose: Giving Your Organization a Reason to Believe in Itself. Over the past decade John has established himself as world authority on topics that matter to leaders who are seeking insight into leadership challenges of the day. Through his books and his many columns for leading business publications, John has become a source of practical wisdom on topics such as influencing without authority, applying power appropriately, leading with grace and conviction, and developing genuine followership. All of these topics complement John's mission to help individuals and their organization achieve positive results. Consequently John's books have been translated into multiple languages including Mandarin, Hungarian, Indonesian, Japanese, Korean, Spanish and Vietnamese.

John speaks widely to corporate, professional, military and university audiences. Those who attend John's keynotes and workshops find his advice to be practical and his advice inspirations. Mixed with stories of great men and women, and leavened with light-hearted humor, John seeks down-to-earth practical advice that individuals can apply immediately. John's presentations blend his passion for leadership with genuine enthusiasm for helping people achieve their leadership ambitions.
